

School Adaptability

as a key to develop a child's potential

The SCHOOL ADAPT project responds to the needs of pupils with a migrant background and prepares schools, teachers and parents for the increasing diversity in today's classrooms.

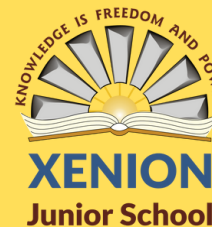

The project aims to facilitate the adaptation process of pupils (aged 6-14) returning from abroad to the native education system and of foreign pupils arriving in a new country, a new life and school environment.

It is aimed at primary and secondary schools across the EU, educational staff, school specialists and migrant parents.

Objectives

- Foster adaptability of school-age children (6-14 years old) to use and boost their learning potential and to meet the requirements of the education system of the unknown environment.
- Help children and young people from migrant backgrounds in the project countries to become well-integrated into the education system abroad and through this into society.
- Contribute to improving migrant pupils' overall school performance and well-being.
- Prepare highly qualified, special primary and lower-secondary educators & teachers to work with migrant students.
- Tackle educational disadvantages and early school leaving by giving migrant parents' opportunities to support their children in their learning in the project countries.
- Reduce social isolation and perceived barriers to full integration among migrant children.
